I GOT A BREAK BABY... is a project that DOES NOT attempt to relate music with art in a comparative or referential way, but as a sensorial vehicle that leads the listener to a visual radiography about, in this case, various agents that compose the artistic structure, as art centres, artists or curators from different generations and who don't necessarily have a referential link with music, even though many of them do.

10 individual playlists where the spectator can listen and select different kind of sound pieces selected by this exhibition's guests whose final result arrive to the public through sensorial encounters and associations created by the unconscious.
